System Requirements For Melodics:

By starting a group in No Man's Sky, the second you start that group (and the first person), a quest is added to the game to allow for communication between players in the same region, to solve an inter-region quest, and to end the game. You won't be able to join the game until this quest is completed, so before you start your quest, ensure you are ready to start. The quest has a maximum completion time of 120 minutes, and, if completed within that time, players will automatically be accepted into the group. If the player does
